
LOW YEN LING 刘燕玲

37, was a Director with the Singapore Economic Development Board (EDB). She pioneered the Singapore Welcome Centre for Corporates, a new unit set up to attract global mid-sized companies to Singapore. She was also the Director in charge of developing the Professional Services sector. In addition, she led a team under Contact Singapore to attract entrepreneurs to invest and set up businesses here.

She joined EDB as a Senior Officer in 2001. In her early years at EDB, Yen Ling pursued her interest in entrepreneurship as she led the Board's efforts to encourage the formation of technopreneurial enterprises and the growth of venture capital and private equity industries. Yen Ling spearheaded the "Global Entrepolis @ Singapore", a mega-networking event for enterprises. She also volunteered her time to teach young students entrepreneurial skills as part of BizWorld, a programme that introduces business concepts to primary school students. Prior to joining EDB, Yen Ling had five years of experience in the private sector. As a fresh graduate, she joined the financial industry, handling commercial lending accounts for United Overseas Bank and Keppel Tat-Lee Bank. She then joined a start-up company as a Business Development Manager.

Yen Ling has been helping out in Meet the People sessions and grassroots activities in Hong Kah GRC.

A graduate of Nanyang Technological University, Yen Ling holds a Bachelor of Business Studies Second Upper Honours degree majoring in Financial Analysis. She is an alumna of Temasek Junior College and Dunman High School. Yen Ling is married with two children. While she enjoys sports like running and playing table tennis, she devotes much of her free time to her family and two young sons, aged four and seven years old.
